GEORGE CLINTON RIDDICK, JR.

July 22, 1932 — October 21, 2024

From a very young age, it seems a strong characteristic arose in George as a determined fighter in overcoming monumental challenges. This characteristic clearly surfaced as he continually fought to conquer and overcome a severe stuttering condition in his speech. George developed a “Can Do” optimistic attitude, in spite of his stuttering, with the loving encouragement from his father and mother, Ruth. His positive determination served him well in all areas of his life, propelling his success in his career with NY City Transit Authority and, above all, his theocratic career as a Christian minister of Jehovah GOD.
