“ Butch was my dad and though in my teenage and adult life we didnt really have the father daughter relationship. I want you to know dad it's ok and I will see you on the other side and i wish we had more time to figure out our path together. But I have the memories of the funny goofy camping trips and that one road trip you took me on and showed me amazing things and the time me a juliann spent the night with you at granpas and I got terribly sick you head my hand and held me in bed. I remember my world feeling like it was shattering when you said you had to leave. There is more but I will leave those between me and you our little something that the world doesn't know but me and you. I love you and I will see you again one day. When that day comes and we unite I hope we can start our path and know mom and daddy are here to comfort me and guild me and juliann and they have raised us to be our own type of amazing and wonderful individuals. I will miss you and see you later tin man. ❤️

“ I will never forget the first time I met John in person. Gwen, Dani and the children decided it would be a great idea to leave us 2 alone for an hour. I was never so scared as the moment they walked out the door. But then we started talking, and he suddenly I realised he was a giant teddy bear, who loved hot sauce. I had had a nightmare about meeting John, and hot sauce, and cannibalism was involved, and from the first sentence he spoke to me, he never let me forget the hot sauce dream, which Dani had told him about. I will miss you John, keep the grill burning so I can join you one day.
