“ If u know anything about love and character in a person u know u can love some one more in 2 months then u did someone u was with for 20 yrs time means nothing character does...: Brian and me have been together since this time almost last year minus a few months he tried one last time with his long time gf Cadillac or Tina I should say and I'm so glad she didn't treat him the way he deserved the way I did cause I got the happiest Brian I got the realest rawest most genuine Brian. Love had no limits and we loved each other I may have started off the other woman but I garunteed u I was the one he cared loved and longed for the short time he went back to vv why cuz he came back tk me. When u love something set it free if it comes back it's meant to be ...: he came back and he made me feel like I was everything I thought I wasn't he knew how to make me laugh when I was big mad no matter how mad he knew what to do to make it better he was so good with my kids and any kids he came in contact with. He may not have been perfect but to me he was. He was my home and that I'll never be able to shake or get over is the absence I have in my heart without him here..... I love u baby one way or another justice will be served I miss u more then anything !! Rest ez
