“ When moving to Orangeburg, South Carolina, late in the 1960s, my husband and I were priviledged to have Polly and Henry along with their lovely three daughters not only our next door neighbors but good friends. What I remember most is how devoted she was to her family and friends and how dedicated in everything she did.

“ We had the pleasure of meeting Polly in Dublin when she visited with Gayle and Alan, Her southern warmth and charm delighted everyone she met. These traits endure through her wonderful daughter, and our dear friend, Gayle.
May Polly rest in peace
Sending love and best wishes to Henry and family in these difficult days
