“ though some time has passed since i last saw pam,i occassionaly catch myself lost in my thoughts /memories of when me and Sue were once in love,i see Pam sitting behind her computer desk rolling off the questions of what was going on with me and Sue,she'd already know the answers but nevertheless we'd go thru this routine everytime when something was going on,it was merely a formality of how we communicated,she was a friend,i smile at the memories i have,i miss those times,my deepest condolences to all ,i know you miss her deeply
