“ Words can not express how much I miss you right now... the thought of not being able to call and talk to you... to call and check in on you... to know I can stop by and see you...

The Lord truly blessed me by allowing me the resources to get you home, to give me a month to spend with you, allow me to talk to you the night before, and he allowed me to be by your side until you took your last breath... the Lord had his hands all over our lives these past couple of months... I am truly blessed. I know I will walk through the gates and you will be sitting there waiting on me with a smile and a cup of coffee...

Lord knows I miss you... I love you dad...
