“ I love you so much, Mom. I don't even know what to say cause there's just no words that can accurately describe the amount of pain and heartbreak I'm in. I'll miss you forever. Thinking about you always, Mom.

“ The day it all started ... I still can't believe she said yes ... 22 years of disbelief and I'm still not sure it wasn't the best dream ever. I will miss you every moment of every day, my eyes will see the world for you. I always came home to share my stories and adventures with you, it was more fun because I knew you would love the stories ... and yes I lied and made shit up, but you knew that. I was broken when you found me, you made everything okay. You helped me be the person everyone knows, I'll do my best to carry on my love ... but I think I'm broken again ... whatever is next, they are blessed beyond measure to have you.

I'll see you whenever it's my turn.
